

Matt Copeland, Director of Educator Engagement

Bio:

A 6th generation educator, Matt is a former award-winning English teacher and curriculum leader who now works with educators across the U.S. to build capacity with Lexile and Quantile measures to improve student learning. He frequently presents at local, regional and national conferences and has several publications on teaching and learning.